My dear Admiral:

When your kind letter of September 17th arrived, we forwarded copy to the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey), and this morning have a memorandum from the editor of THE LAMP, reading:

"We were very much impressed by the reaction of Rear Admiral Hillenkoetter. You might advise him that it is being brought to the attention of the general public through a wide pickup through the Associated Press as well as a number of individual papers, but that in the light of his view of its importance, we will take up the matter of having it reprinted as he suggests."

Thanks again for your interest.

Kind regards,

A. G. Newmyer

Dear Mr. Newmyer:

Thank you very much for your kindness in sending me the September copy of "The Lamp". I appreciated it and enjoyed the article on "The Goal: More Oil". The shortage of oil is going to become increasingly critical, and I think that article should be reprinted and sent out in order that the general public may have a better understanding of the situation. Thank you for your offer to continue to send "The Lamp". I should like very much to receive it if you will send it to me at the address above.

I should like to take the opportunity also at this time to reply to your letter of August 21st, stating that you were sending me some reproductions of paintings concerning the contributions of the oil industry to the victorious war effort. I have delayed answering this letter, awaiting the arrival of the reproductions. So far they have not arrived, and I am merely stating this in order that you may know why I have not replied earlier to your letter of August 21st.

With very best wishes, believe me,

Sincerely,

Dear Admiral Hillenkoetter:

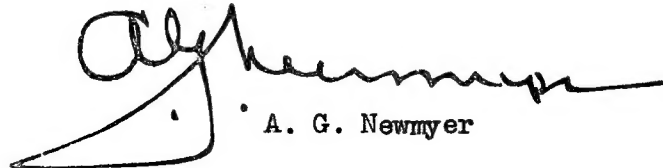

I strongly commend to your personal study
the illustrated article, "THE GOAL: MORE OIL", in the current issue of THE LAMP -- attached.

It spells out the unprecedented demand for petroleum products estimated for the coming four years, and the Industry's gigantic plans for production and refining expansion.

Although THE LAMP is published primarily for the employees and stockholders of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey), they would be happy to add your name to the regular mail list.

If that is desired, please let us know whether you prefer receiving it at your office or residence address.

Sincerely yours,

A. G. Newmyer

Dear Admiral Hillenkoetter:

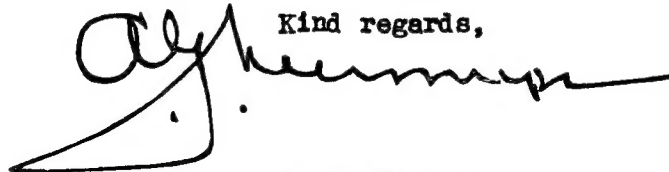

The Standard Oil Company (New Jersey)
commissioned sixteen leading American artists to document the contributions of the Oil Industry to our victorious war effort.

The paintings are now on tour at museums and colleges throughout the Country, where they are attracting considerable attention. Many of them have appeared from time to time in THE LAMP.

Six of the group of paintings were selected for reproduction by members of the Industry and Educators at two special showings.

We take pleasure in sending you these selections. They will arrive shortly under separate cover.

Kind regards,
